A Spirited September, Starring Norma Senn

By Maria Stewart

Our first speaker of the fall season is a member and friend whom we welcome from Canada. She is a member of the Victoria Rhododendron Society and formerly was a member of the Fraser South Rhododendron Society.

Norma retired as Director of the Department of Agriculture at the University of the Fraser Valley in 2008. As a member of the department, she taught a variety of courses in horticulture, biology and agronomy. One of the things she especially enjoyed while working for UFV was having the opportunity to participate in several international projects that led to her having the chance to work in Viet Nam and Bangladesh.

Before joining the faculty at UFV, Norma was the provincial urban horticulturist for the BC Ministry of Agriculture. As part of her duties with the BCMA, she set up and ran the first Master Gardener program in Canada. She still teaches the introductory botany courses and plant propagation courses for the BC Master Gardeners.

While living in the Fraser Valley, she was an active member of the Fraser South Rhododendron Society, serving as president of the Chapter for several years. In 2009, Norma moved to Victoria (less rain and warmer winter temperatures.) She likes all rhododendrons, but because she has a small urban garden, is particularly interested in anything small. Her goal is to find and grow as many of the late Warren Berg's introductions as possible since so many of these are such good plants for the small garden.

The title of Norma's talk is "Walking in the Sasquatch's Footprints: a brief history of gardening in the Pacific Northwest."

This meeting is also the time to bring a few cuttings from your garden in a labeled plastic baggie with just enough moisture to keep your cuttings fresh. Maybe some special cuttings that you have wished for will be brought by someone else. Kathy Van Veen will give us some tips about rooting our cuttings in our own homes. You don't need a greenhouse to root rhododendrons!

So mark September 15th on your calendar. The evening promises to be enlightening

Purpose

To encourage interest in and disseminate information and knowledge about the genus Rhododendron.

To provide a medium through which all persons interested in the genus may communicate with others through education, scientific studies, meetings, publications, and other similar activities.

The Portland Chapter of the American Rhododendron Society is registered in Oregon as a 501 (C)(3) non-profit organization. Dues and donations are qualified charitable tax deductions.

Smith Garden in Spring

What I Should Have Known

By Irving G. Snyder, Jr.

In late March I returned to Stevenson, WA to survey my rhododendrons. There were black spots on a number of the leaves, particularly the smaller-leaved rhododendrons. Other larger leaves had spots the size of a quarter where the leaf was completely dead and the color of the spot was gray. I dutifully sprayed the leaves with Bob MacArthur's wonder mildewicide consisting of:

2 tbs of baking soda

1 tbs Murphy Oil Soap

1 tbs canola oil

1 tbs white vinegar

Mixed in one gallon of water.

Unfortunately, the problem did not go away. In fact, it seemed to be spreading, particularly to the rhododendrons that were downwind from the troubled plants. One day as I was trimming around the base of one of the problem rhododendrons, I noticed some rhododendron leaves near the ground that were all black. Further investigation of this rhododendron revealed that the bottom trunk part of the bush was black, black from mildew. I have cut a lot of the lower growth away from the affected rhododendrons and have thoroughly sprayed the trunks with the above mixture. Two weeks later I sprayed the rhodies again with a commercial fungicide. The problem appears to be under control and the new leaves do not have mildew spots.

When spraying your rhodies for mildew and fungus, be sure to spray the trunks of the plants, particularly the base of the trunk.

A Perfect Evening to have a Picnic

By Maria Stewart

What an enjoyable evening was had by all at the Smith Garden Soiree on August 18th!

The food was outstanding and the Garden beckoned us to wander among the special rhododendrons and trees.

It was a real treat to be guided through the Garden by Bob Grasing and Jason Ashford as they pointed out their favorite plants. Peter Kendall joined us and spoke enthusiastically about the Acer griseum and other features of the Garden.

Members from all three Chapters, Portland, Tualatin and Willamette, enjoyed the evening. It was especially nice to see Ron and Becky Yasenchak and Gordon and Linda Wylie, who travelled long distances to attend the Soiree. A big thank-you goes to Tom and Jane Gressler who facilitated the Event.

News from Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden

After a month as the dedicated gardener for the Jane Martin Memorial Garden, I believe Crystal Springs is home to the biggest Herb Robert and the friendliest mosquitos in town. The dedicated crew of ARS volunteers is inspiring; so is being able to actually garden within Crystal Springs and do something about, for example, the weeds. Working with a group of very knowledgeable gardeners, many of them graduates of the OSU Master Gardener program, I am constantly learning and that's fun. "Name That Weed" is always popular, as we work to clear the garden beds and pathways. In the course of grubbing out weeds in the Jane Martin Memorial Garden, I uncovered several plants of Gentiana asclepiadea in bloom; they are in Bed DD, south of the waterfall, behind the Enkianthus and the Sasanqua camellias above the path. There are also 2 plants of a variegated Hypericum on that same slope. Recently, Donna Giguere and I discovered a shrub we could not identify, buried under living black walnut and California bay/Oregon myrtle branches on the north side of the waterfall. Whatever it is, it's a survivor!

Coming up November 2, 2011 is the Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden annual Dormancy Luncheon, the end-of-the-season wrap-up celebration. In years past, the Crystal Springs volunteers have used that occasion to clean, sharpen and oil all the gardening tools in preparation for winter; do we want to bring back that event this year?
