Haiku

The wind from the east redoubling itself -- its trail of floating debris

The gnarl of the pine Buffeting winds allowing both sun and its eclipse

In a world of green
the paucity of flowers
all the more exalting

The flanking maple
a window on white flowers through morning bird song

How the rain implies sound after sound -- so many
-- yet each so discrete

Show and Tell

Please remember to bring a show and tell item from your garden to our meetings. We are establishing a new tradition, sharing information about our rhododendron companion plants with our fellow members. What's in your garden? Or greenhouse, for that matter, sharing space with vireyas and other tender rhododendrons, perhaps ?

From the President's Corner

By Maria Stewart

Where did the phrase, “ the lazy days of summer” come from? There is just more time to work when the daylight stays around longer, right? Water and weed, water and weed; you know the routine. On the flip side, of course, we have a lot more time to enjoy going on trips and gathering for picnics and parties. Such is the case in the month of August. You are invited to two parties -- The Smith Garden Soiree on August 15th and Brenda and Steve's party on August 25th. See the times and directions to both of these events in this newsletter.

Now is a good time, also, to plan to attend The Western Regional Rhododendron Conference at the Best Western Agate Beach Inn located in Newport, Oregon on September 27-29th. The room rates are lower than in 2007 and you can reserve your room now with the hotel. Be sure to tell the hotel that you are part of the Rhododendron Conference in order to get the reduced room rate. The 'phone number for reservations is 1-800-547-3310. You will find the registration form for the Conference in the Summer 2013 ARS Journal. Excellent hotel, fine fall weather and top-notch programs-- what a combination to lure you to the Oregon coast in September!

Thinking ahead to our regular September meeting on September 19th, you may want to check out some special rhododendrons in your landscape that could spare a few cuttings to share with your fellow Portland Chapter members. It's always fun to see the cuttings that members bring to exchange. And those cuttings will, sometime in the future, become the special rhododendrons in another member's garden.

If I do not see you in August, I look forward to seeing you at the meeting or at the Western Regional. Take care in the meantime.

Rhododendron Species Foundation and Botanical Garden

By Mike Stewart, RSF President

If you haven't visited the RSBG in Federal Way, Washington recently, you are missing the opportunity to see one of the largest collections of species rhododendrons in the world. This is a non-profit organization dedicated to the conservation, public display, and distribution of rhododendron species. The Garden is home to 700 of the 1,000 species found in the wilds of North America, Europe and Asia, as well as the tropical regions of Southeast Asia and Northern Australia.

One of the newer additions to the garden is the Rutherford Conservatory, completed in 2010. This tropical conservatory houses hundreds of tropical beauties set alongside waterfalls, a stream and towering boulders. The outdoor paved terrace is a popular venue for weddings and garden events. The conservatory is ever-changing, as plants are maturing and reaching into the vaulted space of this magnificent building. Also available to you is an excellent selection of rhododendrons for sale, both hybrids and rare species, along with many outstanding and rare companion plants.

There are many events at the garden throughout the year, including The Spring Plant Sale, Blue Poppy Day, Evening in the Garden, the Fall Foliage Festival, International Day, lectures, private tours given by Steve Hootman, and special lectures designed to educate visitors. You may check the RSBG website for current dates and upcoming events.

The RSBG offers several membership options, starting with Individual, $25.00; Family, $50.00 and so on. The membership allows free admission to the garden, 10% discount in the Gift Shop, Spring and Fall Plant Catalogs, Newsletters, and a fabulous Rhododendron Species Yearbook. And, the best reward of membership is that you will be supporting the conservation of so many rare and in some cases endangered species rhododendrons. This is truly a great organization that is recognized world-wide, and I do encourage you to become a member. Go visit the RSBG and you will be inspired by what you see and experience. The garden is open Tuesday through Sunday, 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM, with general admission $8.00.

This coming year, the RSBG will be celebrating our 50th year in existence. As plans materialize for this celebration event, I will keep you up to date. Please plan on attending this grand event, where you will have the opportunity to meet and mingle with some of the world's most renowned Plant Collectors and Garden Curators, as well as the many long-time RSBG members who have made the garden such a special place.
