Next Meeting May 16, 2024

Potluck Banquet—bring your favorite potluck item. Program: Norm Jacobs from Arbutus Garden Arts will talk about differences in landscaping in Japan.

Meetings start at 7PM with a social half-hour preceding the main meeting. We clean up and exit by 9:30PM.

Unless there's a special potluck Banquet like this month, if you want, meet at Woodstock Wine and Deli (SE Woodstock at 42nd Ave.) at 5pm for an informal happy hour meal!

President's Letter

May is Rhododendron time, no bones about it. This is what we wait all year for in this part of the world. Just glance outside and take a moment to absorb the beauty of these great plants that we all love and enjoy. Although we have Rhodies blooming all year long, this is the time that we get the most bang for your buck.

Speaking of blooming Rhodies, we hope people will bring some trusses to the Mother's Day show this year, May 11-12. Depending on when you read this, the Mother's Day Show may be over, so I hope that you got a Ribbon for your entries. Ann Clack does a spectacular job of putting together the prizes for best of the best in many categories that win the fantastic prizes.

Our Mother's Day Show also has a plant sale for you to buy a Rhodie that you probably won't find in your local Garden Center. The Show is a great event that attracts our members and the citizens of Portland.

There are lots of activities this time of year that you can attend and enjoy. We have work parties that you can join. You also can sign up for working at Smith Garden collecting entrance fees and selling plants to the visitors. I want to remind everyone that we are short on Volunteers and we need you to help us fill the vacancies.

Enjoy this wonderful Month of May while the blooms last. Check out the Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden and the Smith Garden for an opportunity to see them at their finest.

I look forward to seeing you at our next Chapter Meeting on May 16th.

Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden Early Show

“Viewer’s Choice” April 13-14, 2024

This year’s early show was different than shows of past years. Instead of having a judged show, it was decided that we would have a display instead. Six Portland Chapter ARS (PCARS) members brought a total of 78 trusses for display.

The public was given a chance to vote on their favorite, and as you can imagine, their choices were quite varied. Having them vote was such a good idea! It really involved them in the plants that were in the showroom and made them slow down long enough to really look at them. Once they slowed down the questions started to flow as well. We had a trophy for the winner of the popular vote. Joanne Turner’s ‘Vibrant Violet’ spray captured the most popular votes.

Since the weather was nice there were lots of people and the room rarely was empty. PCARS printed 450 ballots and they were almost all gone by the end of the day. Many good conversations happened around the displays that were up for Smith garden, Van Veen Heritage Garden, and Vireyas. We had one blooming Vireya from Van Veen nursery. Many people were impressed by that type of bloom and they learned a lot. We had brochures available for the care of Vireyas as well as information about Van Veen Heritage Garden.

The plant sale and a variety of Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden (CSRG) gifts were offered outside, manned by the garden staff. All in all it was a great day!

Upcoming Events

By Ann Clack

Smith Garden Open Days run through May 19.

Mother's day weekend show and sale May 11-12. Looks like the weather will be wonderful! The Mother's Day show is our opportunity to educate the public about rhododendrons.

- Consider bringing a leaf display showing different sizes of leaves with and without indumentum
- How about a display on common leaf problems and how to treat them
- How about a poster on CSRG history! We can advertise the upcoming 75th Anniversary next year!

Let's get back to basics and become a learning event for the public! So ... bring in your flowers and displays and just have fun. Your flowers need to be in place inside the cool house by 9am, Saturday May 11th.

If you have questions about Crystal Springs Rhododendron Garden, email info@crystalspringsgarden-pdx.org or phone (503) 267-7509.

May 16 PCARS Monthly Meeting

By Ray Clack, Program Chair

The May 16th meeting features Norm Jacobs from Arbutus Garden Arts. Norm presented a program to our group a few years ago. He will talk about differences in landscaping in Japan. Norm writes:

I've always been attracted to Japanese gardens, which I quickly discovered are inseparable from Japanese culture. Over decades as a gardener/nurseryman, I've had formal training in design, pruning technique, and a millenium of tradition in plant selection. Last fall Deb and I spent several weeks of cultural immersion in central Honshu, from Kyoto to Kanazawa and the villages between—an experience I hope to share. I will bring a few plants to offer, and perhaps door-prizes if you do that.

Norm's horticultural bio

I began gardening under my grandmother's tutelage in New Jersey sometime around age 6 - trimming boxwood, pruning roses, and tending the vegetable garden. We moved to California's Bay Area when I was in high school, where I landscaped the tract house lot: fruit trees, berries, rhubarb, and a vegetable garden in the back yard, and a very conventional ornamental front yard. But the treasures were the three mature apricot trees that the developer left intact! College was math/physics at Berkeley, but fledgling programs for public "pension" gardens drew my involvement, as well as Alice Waters' first "edible classroom" a few blocks from where I lived. At the time my focus was on edibles, but exploring the UC Botanical Garden became one of my getaways.

A few years after college, I met Deb - a botany grad from UC Santa Barbara. That we would garden was a foregone conclusion, and partnering in Arbutus Garden Arts has been a natural outcome. We moved onto 20 acres of bare land in Yamhill in the early 1980s, where we immediately began a garden under a canopy of Quercus garryana with limited water and low-fertility low water retention soil. Beginning in 2010 we began to develop a new garden in Portland with more sun and alluvial soil, moving ourselves and our nursery in mid-2015. Deb has retained an eclectic taste in plants, while my interest has been drawn to Asian plants, gardens, and garden design in which I've taken formal training.

Woodland gardens are our focus, as we've found the assembly of over-story, mid-story, and understory to benefit the plants and ourselves with reduced stress and labor. Working from full sun at the fringes to deep dry shade in the depths allows us the full range of plants we like. As a nursery, we specialize in Japanese maples, dwarf conifers, Epimedium, and are flirting with woodland (species) peonies, all of which are propagated and grown right here from plants which have performed well in our garden.

ARTS' NURSERY

Past Meeting 4/18/24

By Ray Clack

April 18th Lynda Miller talked to the group about iris hybridization. She has been hybridizing Iris for years. She described the process and showed many examples of her work.

Lynda Miller is the owner of Miller's Manor Garden in Canby along with Roger & Nathan Miller, her husband and son. Iris isn't the only plant they grow! The nursery is full of fuchsias, witchhazels, hostas, and so much more. Lynda's plant knowledge is vast and varied. Listening to her always is fun and informative.

From the website, Miller's Manor Gardens is a small retail and wholesale nursery with extensive display gardens. Gardens showcase numerous genera of rare and unusual miniature and dwarf conifers, hardy fuchsias, rock garden and alpine plants, iris, and various other perennials for sun and shade.

Rhododendron Species Botanical Garden Federal Way WA

On Friday 26 April five of us braved rain showers and downpours to view the spectacular display of rhododendron at the Rhododendron Species Botanical Garden (RSBG). These are only a very few photos—there are many more photos online. After visiting RSBG, Joanne Turner, Mike D. and Ray Clack visited Lakewold Gardens a short distance from RSBG. Joanne wrote that it was “a really neat historical home with grounds that had Rhodies; about as big as Crystal Springs.” And from Willamette Chapter newsletter editor Mary Ellen Ramseyer, page 5, a third garden in Federal Way WA is PowellsWood garden, a 3-acre cultivated English-style garden connected to a 37-acre nature preserve, just 10 minutes from RSBG.

Open Days at Cecil & Molly Smith Garden

Each Saturday and Sunday during spring blooming two Willamette or Portland Chapter members host Open Days at Smith Garden, this year through May 19. All but one of these host positions is filled but we need ONE more person to help on Saturday May 11. If you are not helping with the Mother's Day show at CSRG it would be wonderful if you could work along with Martha D that Saturday. Sign up to work at Smith Garden on the May 11 Open Day.

Taken from the ARS blog, Ginny Mapes provides an overview of this woodland garden. In addition, Peter Kendall has written a comprehensive history of Smith Garden, first published in Pacific Horticulture (Summer 1994) and subsequently adapted in JARS v9n1. There are many more pictures online and Joanne Turner also has posted photos on the Smith Garden Facebook page.

Getting to Smith Garden

Smith Garden is located at 5055 Raybell Road NE, St. Paul, Oregon 97137. Parking and entrance are just past the house. There are two entrances; the first entrance is to the private driveway and garage area; enter at the second entrance, which has a “Garden Open” sign at the left side of the entrance. Proceed to the green guard house where volunteers will collect your $3 entrance fee and answer questions.

If you are the volunteer host for the day, you already have been provided with a procedure while you’re there, but be sure to walk around this wonderful Garden while you’re there. There likely will be limited sales but there still are a few plants that are for sale.

Enjoy!

The Crossword Project

Awhile back there was mention of a rhodie crossword puzzle book. The rhodie crossword puzzle book is copyright so it can't be copied but there's an online crossword puzzle generator app that's available. Using this app and our resources (Rhododendron Species Botanical Garden, ARS resources) the following crossword puzzle was created. Answer sheet on next page.

The Crossword Project #2

Down:

1. Another word for determinate inflorescence.
2. In rhododendron, the flower stalk.
3. An arrangement of rhododendron flowers that consist of a number of short flower stalks.
4. Plants whose inflorescence has the oldest flower at the top of the main axis or rachis.
7. In botany, a classificatory rank between family and species.

Across:

5. The arrangement of the flowers on a plant.
6. An elepidote subgenus of rhododendron whose members bear their flowers in clusters at the ends of branches.
8. Plants whose inflorescence has the youngest bud at the top of the main axis.
9. Horticultural term for the flower cluster of a rhododendron.
10. Another word for indeterminate inflorescence.

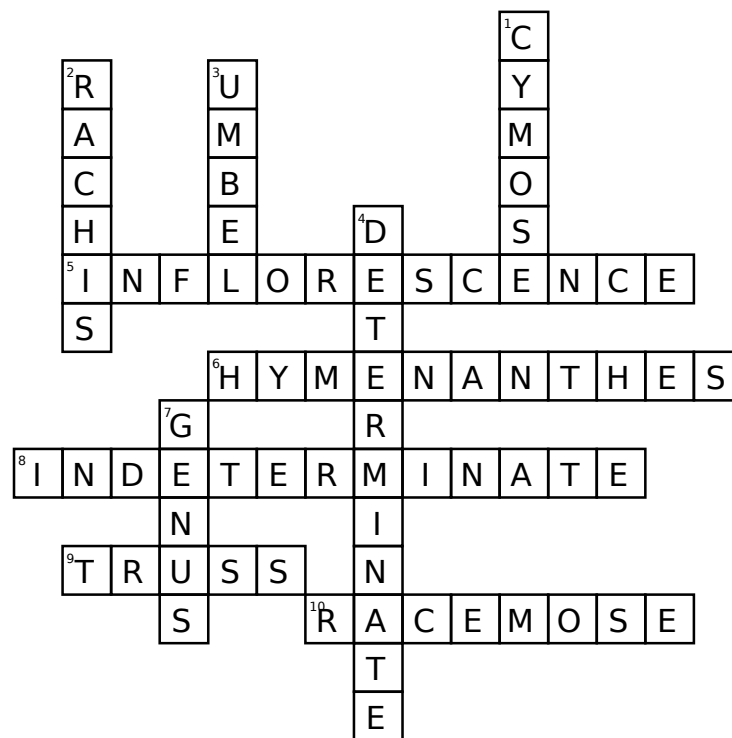

If you're so inclined, send clues to editor@rhodies.org. Clues and answers need to be in the format: word, definition. For example:

indumentum, A woolly covering on the underside of mature leaves.

tomentum, A woolly covering on the upper side of mature leaves.

persistent tomentum, Type of tomentum that remains on a leaf to maturity. (2 words)
